

THE MONTHLY NEWSLETTER OF GOOD SHEPHERD LUTHERAN CHURCH, ELCA

The Shepherd's Scroll

Preaching, Teaching, and Reaching in Jesus' Name

Vicar Hanna Lieber

Greetings, Good Shepherd Lutheran! It is a joy to be here serving your congregation as part of my pastoral formation. I come to you from Wartburg Theological Seminary in Dubuque, IA, where I just finished my third year of classes. After my internship, I will return to Wartburg for a year to complete my MDiv in Word and Sacrament and prepare for candidacy approval. This internship will be a chance for me to experience the rhythm of the church and to practice the skills I need to be a pastor. I am so grateful that Good Shepherd has taken this step to support the church in building up leaders for the ELCA. God willing, and with your support, I will become one of those leaders. I am excited to be HERE with YOU in this time!

I am a first-generation German “pastor’s kid”. I spent my childhood in Lutheran churches in the rural Midwest, but most of my adult life has been in Wisconsin, where my parents live now.

With many lives lived and a complex history, I majored in art and anthropology, worked as a lifeguard/swim instructor, nanny, organic farmer, and massage therapist. I pray that the Holy Spirit can use my unique perspective to add to our collective experience as we gather this year.

I was called to ministry in 2023 as I began experiencing what I call a “flooding” of words, music, and imagery. Just as I began to question if this were a call, a massage client (who knew very little about me) began to speak of a friend who went to seminary late in life. He told me, “How good it was for the ELCA to have second-career pastors who brought their varied experiences to the church in these times.” As he spoke, God answered many questions. This sparked a deeper inward and outward discernment. After lots of prayer and meditation, and a “Considering Your Call” weekend at Wartburg, I reached out to over 30 important people in my life, many of whom were pastors, and I began to take the steps that have led me here to you today.

I have a 2-year-old disabled dog named Nikola and an 11-year-old rabbit named Clover. They are both rescues and very much my family. I also have many houseplants, including a 32-year-old Ficus tree and a 16-year-old Japanese Wisteria that I started from a seed. I enjoy watching The Great British Baking Show, walking in nature, art and culture, and any chance I have to go to the beach.

Please contact me via email at vicarhanna@gslc-cu.org or text at 608-448-8993. I will generally be in the office Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Nikola will especially love to see you, as he's the extrovert in the family! I pray this will be a year of worship, learning, and discovery for us, as we witness who God is and what God is doing!

Thank You!

Dear Good Shepherd, your warm welcome has made moving to Champaign a wonderful experience. My deepest gratitude to all who helped unload the moving truck and get my apartment ready. Thank you also for the outpouring of love, generosity, and hospitality on the 16th. To all who contributed to the gift card bouquet, please know your kindness and thoughtfulness have filled my heart with joy and gratitude. This is so helpful during this time of transition with all the moving expenses! What a blessing it is to feel your love and wide welcome in such beautiful ways. I am really enjoying meeting you and getting to know you, and I am excited to learn and grow in such a loving community!

Thank you ever so much. Vicar Hanna

The Voice of Hind Rajab, a 2025 docudrama film written and directed by Kaouther Ben Hania, follows the Red Crescent response when Hind Rajab, a five-year-old Palestinian girl, is trapped during the Israeli invasion of the Gaza Strip by Israel Defense Forces. It stars Saja Kilani, Motaz Malhees, Amer Hlehel, and Clara Khoury and is a co-production between Tunisia and France.

The film won the Grand Jury Prize and six other parallel prizes at its world premiere in the 82nd Venice International Film Festival September 2025. It was then released in Tunisia and then in France by Jour2Fête.

At the 98th Academy Awards, it was nominated for Best International Feature Film as the Tunisian entry. At the 83rd Golden Globe Awards, it was also nominated for Best Non-English Language Film.

Join us to screen this powerful film and stay after for a discussion and debrief led by Al Mytty. All are welcome, but some subjects in this film may not be appropriate for children. TW: violence, violence against children.

GROW IN YOUR FAITH

Adult Forum begins again on Sunday, September 20

September 20: Local Efforts to Help the Homeless – An Update – Melissa Courtwright, Director, CU at Home. We'll get the latest on what's happening at the new Mattis Street location, among others. Dan Corkery will host.

September 27: A Return Visit by the Imam. Imam Ousmane Sawadogo from the Mosque in Urbana joins us again after his Spring presentation, this time for a Q & A session. Join us as we explore some of the details of the religious practices of Islam.

NEXT MONTH

October 4: Fall Prevention Home and Away. Danna Williamson and Greg Scott join us from the Community Wellness & Faith Community Health Services program of Carle Health.

October 11: Cross+Gen

October 18 & 25: Martin Luther
The Making of a Religious Rebel

Tell your neighbors! Bring your children and grandchildren! Invite your friends!

Our Sunday kid's groups are right-sized places for young people to grow in faith, get to know God, encounter the stories of the Bible, and build lasting relationships.

September 13 – Rally Day – we kick off a new year with fun and faith and service.

- Pack School kits.
- Participate in a service-themed scavenger hunt through the building.
- Have a snack.
- Pray with Pastor Lynette and Vicar Hanna.
- Receive a blessing and a back-pack tag.

OUR THEME FOR 2026-7!

September 20, 27, and October 4 – Classroom experiences for all ages.

We welcome Tim O'Connell as the dedicated teacher for The LAMBS! – our youngest learners and Katrina Widholm as the dedicated teacher for The KELPIES! – our middle grade kids. Pastor Lynette will get the year started for our Jr. and Sr. High students – The GOD SQUAD.

If you'd like to help in one of our classrooms, please talk to Katrina or to Pastor Lynette. We want two adults in each classroom EVERY WEEK. Thanks in advance for YOUR willingness to make an impact in the lives of our children and youth!

October 11 – Cross+Gen Gathering

In recognition of Indigenous People's Day, we'll be learning about some of the First Peoples of America, seeing aspects of our Christian faith through their eyes, and gaining in our appreciation for what Indigenous Americans have to teach us about God, the environment, and our relationships with others.

One of the purposes for Cross+Gen gatherings is to connect our young people with caring older adults other than their parents or grandparents. YOU (reading this) are one of those caring adults who can make an impact in a child or teenager's life simply by engaging in conversation, sharing your thoughts and stories, and listening to them. Make plans to join us on Sunday, October 11 for the first Cross+Gen gathering of our year, not only to learn, but also to grow in community.

BACKPACK BLESSING

Join us in worship or during the Rally Day event on Sunday, September 13 for a backpack blessing and receive a tag for your backpack or bag!

GOD SQUAD Youth Group

Our Youth Group meets once a month on the FIRST SATURDAY of the month. The first GOD SQUAD gathering this fall is on Saturday, October 3 at 4 PM. We will help unload pumpkins, share some pizza, and visit with a special mystery guest.... a leader in our church and community who will talk to us about how faith is lived out in their profession and daily life. Parents – please plan on this being a longer gathering, probably until 7 or 7:30 PM.

DWELLING TOGETHER: A PLACE TO BELONG

Beginning in September, a small group called Dwelling Together will gather each first and third Sunday morning of the month from 10:15 - 11:15 am right here at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. Dwelling Together conveniently meets the same hour as Sunday school and the adult education hour, immediately following the worship service. Our purpose is simple: to forge deeper connections between fellow congregants.

While our leadership will rotate each week between Susan Barreto, Marla Todd, and myself, Sue Plisch, each week follows the same rhythm. We start by sharing something from our week to get to know one another better. Then we reflect together on a passage of scripture. And finally, we share how we can be praying for one another in the week ahead.

This is a welcoming group, and you are invited to come as you are, whether your heart is filled with joy or sorrow. We are here to support you, to celebrate with you, and to mourn with you as you walk through life. Drop in anytime; there's no need to commit ahead of time.

I'd like to share why this group means so much to me.

When I first came to Good Shepherd, I was going through one of the hardest seasons of my life. My husband at the time had just shared with me what felt like an explosive secret and one that would eventually lead to the end of our marriage. At the same time, I was working as fast as I could to move from an at-home parent into the working world all while completing additional education to transition into a new field. Life felt so hectic that I struggled to know how to connect with my fellow parishioners. I loved our worship services, but I felt like I didn't have time to get involved in our many worthy volunteer and outreach activities or to serve on committees. Every day felt like a struggle just to keep my head above water.

It was through a conversation with a fellow parishioner and Pastor Lynette that the idea for Dwelling Together first began to germinate. What grew from that conversation became a beautiful and deeply supportive place: a place where we walk through the ups and downs of life with one another.

Dwelling Together is an opportunity to connect with others of different generations and different life experiences. I was surprised and deeply moved to find a fellow parishioner who had walked a similar road to mine decades earlier. Her husband, too, had come out as a member of the LGBT community. It felt like more than coincidence. I believe God had a hand in bringing our paths together, right when I needed to know I wasn't walking that unexpected road alone.

When we begin meeting again in September, I encourage you to come check us out. We meet in the room right next door to the nursery. All are welcome. We would love to get to know you better, whether you're a new parishioner or you've been part of our Good Shepherd family for years. We can't wait to dwell together with you.

WHAT IS DWELLING IN THE WORD?

Dwelling in the Word is a 20-30-minute process for becoming aware of God's presence and the Spirit's movement by listening and reflecting on Scripture as a gathered community. Several groups in our congregation use this practice regularly, including our council and our "Dwelling Together" small group on Sunday mornings. Dwelling in the Word forms faith and trust within a group by sharing responses to three questions: what do I notice, what do I wonder, and where might God's Spirit be nudging us?

The word "dwell" or "abide" is used frequently in Scripture, meaning to live or remain somewhere or with someone for a time. The practice of Dwelling in the Word invites communities to live together with a text for a period so that the reflections, wonderings, and promptings of God's Word form and shape our faith and living. The purpose of Dwelling in the Word is not about answering questions or getting to particular results but rather allowing ourselves to be present with God's living Word. Dwelling in the Word does not require a leader steeped in biblical scholarship.

Dwelling in the Word starts with a prayerful verbal reading of a scripture passage, time for reflection and then a re-reading of the same passage by a different voice and perhaps from a different translation. This allows us to hear the text in a new way. After another few moments for silent reflection, participants are drawn into a discussion using the three questions shared above: What do you notice? What do you wonder about? What do you hear God saying to you or to the group in this passage?

If the group is large, these questions may first be discussed in groups of two or three. After a time, folks are invited to share in the large group what they heard their small group partners saying during the one-on-one time. Whether in the large group or in smaller pairs, time is allowed for everyone's voice to be heard. Dwelling in the Word invites us into intentional listening – to God, to scripture, and to each other.

Did you know? All synod meetings begin with a time of Dwelling in the Word, and congregations in the Central/Southern Illinois Synod (like ours!) are encouraged to engage in Dwelling in the Word at their council and committee meetings, Bible studies, and other gatherings.

Find out more about Dwelling in the Word on our Synod's Website, including a step-by-step guide for leading it yourself and this year's scriptures. Go to the synod website: www.csis-elca.org, click the tab for Faith Formation and scroll down to Dwelling in the Word.

Our next book is “The Color of Life: a journey toward love and racial justice” by Cara Meredith.

Cara Meredith is the daughter-in-law of the famous civil rights activist James Meredith and found herself reexamining her understandings of race and racism in America after marrying into the Meredith family.

This is a personal journey, thoughtfully told, that invites us all to consider our own history and understandings and engage in a shared and loving movement toward greater racial justice.

Copies are available in the narthex/lobby. Please feel free to take one or borrow from a library, buy online, or pick one up from your favorite bookstore. Hope to see you there!

TABLE TALK PUB THEOLOGY SAVE THE DATE!

Table Talk Pub Theology returns Sunday, October 11th at 6 PM at Triptych Brewing in Savoy. This year – new questions, new focuses, and a slightly new format! Friends are welcome. Join us and grow in your faith and understanding as we discuss issues that meet us at the intersection of faith and life.

A Big Thank You!

Thank you to everyone who donated school supplies or funds for the Lutheran World Relief school supply drive this summer. We have enough supplies to put together 100 school bags. We will be packing the school bags after church on Rally Day, Sunday, September 13 in the Fellowship Hall. Please plan to come assist with the packing and enjoy fellowship time afterwards. Contact Nancy Holm if you have any questions.

Packing School Kits for Lutheran World Relief Sunday, September 13

Please plan to meet in the Fellowship Hall after the church service to pack school bags for LWR. We hope to make 100 bags that will be sent to children here in U.S. as well as around the world. Many hands make light work so join us for this project doing God's work with our hands.

HOT WEATHER IS HERE – ESPECIALLY FOR SENIORS

Summer is here, and that means more sunny days and fun times outside. But for older adults, hot weather can be dangerous. Thankfully, you don't have to risk your health to enjoy summer. There are ways to stay safe and enjoy the warmer weather, no matter your age.

Why hot weather can be bad for older adults. As you age your body doesn't handle heat as well, which can be dangerous if you aren't careful. Adults over age 65 have a higher rate of heat-related illness hospitalizations compared to younger adults. The most common heat-related illnesses are heat cramps, heat exhaustion and, most seriously, heat stroke. "With aging, our bodies produce less sweat, which is the body's natural way of cooling down, this reduced sweat response makes it hard to regulate your body temperature in hot weather."

Older adults who have chronic medical conditions, like diabetes, heart disease, dementia and mental health disorders, as well as those taking certain medications, are also at high risk of developing heat-related illnesses. Some seniors have trouble moving around easily, so they might be unable to find a cooler place when it's hot, making them more likely to get sick from the heat.

1. Stay hydrated. Drink plenty of fluids – water is the best option – even if you don't feel thirsty. Drink fluids before, during and after physical activity. Don't wait until you are thirsty or dehydrated to drink. Limit caffeinated or alcoholic drinks and beverages sweetened with large amounts of sugar. Fresh fruits and vegetables, like watermelon, grapes and cucumbers, can also help keep you hydrated.

2. Wear protective clothing. Lightweight, loose-fitting clothing in light colors that reflect the sunlight. A wide-brimmed hat and UV-filtered sunglasses can also provide added protection

3. Use sunscreen. Apply sunscreen with a high SPF to protect your skin from harmful UV rays. Reapply sunscreen every two hours, especially if sweating or swimming.

4. Stay cool. Spend time in air-conditioned spaces during the hottest parts of the day. Take cool showers or baths or use cool washcloths to cool your body. If air conditioning is unavailable at home, consider visiting a shopping mall, movie theater, library or community center to cool down. The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program may help older adults with limited incomes cover the cost of air conditioners and utility bills

5. Check your medications. Some medications can make your skin extra sensitive to the sun's UV light, reduce sweating and increase the risk of heat-related illnesses. Be extra careful about being out of the sun and heat when taking these drugs so you can reduce your risk. This blog shares a short list of drugs, but check with your health care provider or pharmacist if you are unsure.

6. Stay connected. Don't be afraid to ask for help, whether a friend, neighbor, family member or caregiver. Reach out to someone you trust if you're feeling unwell or need help with everyday tasks – especially those that may involve being outside during peak hours.

7. Plan to travel wisely. If you plan to travel during the summer months, especially to hot destinations, consider how the weather might affect your health. Choose travel times and destinations carefully, opting for cooler climates or scheduling activities during the cooler parts of the day. Check if your hotel or accommodation has air conditioning and access to cool, shaded areas. Pack plenty of water and snacks to stay hydrated while traveling. Keep your medication with you in your carry-on bag. Bring along enough medicine to last your trip. Check out this link: these expert strategies for medications and travel. Research medical facilities and emergency services at the destination in case of any heat-related emergencies.

8. Know the signs. It's important to recognize when hot weather is making you sick and when to get help. Here are possible risks you might face due to too much heat:

- Dehydration: Dehydration occurs when your body loses more fluids than it takes in, leading to symptoms of dry mouth, dark urine, dizziness and confusion.
- Heat cramps: Muscle pains or spasms can occur in your legs, arms and stomach when sweating pulls moisture and salt from your body.
- Heat exhaustion: Symptoms of heat exhaustion include heavy sweating, weakness, muscle cramps, weak pulse, nausea, headache and fainting.
- Heat stroke: Heat stroke is the most serious form of heat-related illness when the body can't regulate temperature. Warning signs include a high body temperature (104°F or higher), red, hot, dry or moist skin, rapid or strong pulse, headache, nausea, dizziness, confusion and loss of consciousness.

If you are experiencing signs of dehydration or heat cramps, drink plenty of water and, if possible, a sports drink with electrolytes. If you don't feel better after an hour, have someone call 911. If you experience heat exhaustion, move to a cool, shady place and drink plenty of cool fluids. Put cool, wet clothes on your body or take a lukewarm bath. Call 911 if you throw up, symptoms get worse or last longer than an hour. If you have a heat stroke, call 911 right away.

Bottom line; summer is a time for fun in the sun, but it also brings extreme heat that can cause serious problems for older adults.

As temperatures soar, taking precautions is important to stay safe and cool.
